MANY USES RECORDED.

Birch Tree Has Been Utilized for Several Purposes in the Past.

From furnishing material for a canoe in which to hunt whales some hundred odd years ago to supplying New England factories of today with 11,000 cords of wood annually for shoe pegs and shanks, is according to the Department of Agriculture, only part of the services the birch tree has rendered and is rendering the people of America.

Sir Alexander McKenzie, the department tells us in a bulletin just issued on the uses of birch, hunted whales in a birch bark canoe. The animals were found at the mouth of the McKenzie River. He failed to strike the game, and concluded that it was probably for the best. While the canoes are frail, it is pointed out that the bark of which they are made resists decay longer than any other part of the tree.

It would be difficult the department goes on to say, to estimate the value of the service of the birch bark canoe in the discovery, exploration, development and settlement of the northern part of the continent. From the Arctic Circle to the Great Lakes, and southward, for a century and a half, that light but exceedingly serviceable vessel threaded the lakes and rivers, bearing trade and carrying civilization where no other boat could go. The French explorers and missionaries made journeys of hundreds of miles in these canoes, often carrying cargo which would seem beyond the capacity of such frail vessels.

There are of use to which the birch is put is surprisingly large. According to the department, the articles into which it goes range from church pews to kitchen tables and from organ pipes to newel posts. We may have our first sleep in a birch crib and our last in a birch coffin. The spoons on which we get our cotton and silk thread are birch spoons, and the lasts on which our shoes are made are likely to be birch lasts. The largest of the spoils hold 12,000 yards and the smallest twenty yards. The wood's beauty, strength and rigidity make it prominent as a material for musical instruments, and the same qualities bring it into expensive use for flooring.

Many people have an idea that shoe pegs have nearly passed out of use, but the amount of birch previously mentioned as made into pegs and shanks yearly in New England seem to disprove this notion. Birch, the department says, is often put on the market in imitation of other woods, and we may open many a door, sit on many a chair and write on many a desk which we imagine to be mahogany, but which is really birch stained to resemble the genuine article.

Nine species of birch grow in the United States, but sweet, yellow, paper and river birch are those most used. About 45,000,000 board feet of the wood finds its way to the market yearly. Paper birch is one of the few American species with a hold on the forests stronger than when America was covered with this birch were there was little a century ago. It comes in after fire, and some tracts it has taken possession of cover hundreds of square miles.

Practical Joke Caused Death.

A wealthy resident of Newburgh, N. Y., died as the result of a pleasant prank perpetrated by a frolicsome friend. This friend, holding a lighted cigar near the victim's face, suddenly asked him to turn around, and as this was done the cigar lightly touched the victim's cheek. Both gentlemen enjoyed the merry jest. In a few months, however, a cancerous growth appeared on the spot where the flesh had been burned and, growing rapidly, caused the man's death.

Extreme of Adoration.

The admiration entertained by a Trenton boy for his uncle includes all the latter's attributes and even possessions which the uncle himself is not wont to deem desirable. "Uncle," said the lad one day after he had been studying his uncle in laughing conversation with his father, "I don't care much for plain teeth like mine. I wish I had some copper-toed ones like yours."

Pretty Good Motto.

"I knew a man," said a live-wire young minister, "who attributed much of his worldly success to a rule he'd make for himself. He saw how much time and how many opportunities went wrong, and how much money was wasted by indecisionists, as he called them. So he adopted for one of his mottoes: 'Guess quick and stick to it.'"

Ghosts as Dreams.

The probability that we get snatches of sleep at odd moments when we suppose ourselves to have remained continuously awake is supported by the phenomena of dreams. Mark Twain accounted for his own "disappearing visitor" by the belief that he had unconsciously had a very short nap; and many have explained visions of ghosts as due to dreams during such short naps.

Skin on Boiled Milk.

What causes the formation of the skin on the surface of boiled milk and of hot cocoa that is made with boiled milk? Doctor Porcher of Lyons, France, says that it is the result of the disintegrating of the lime and the casein, and the lime combines with carbonic acid from the air to form a thin film of carbonate of lime. This film supports the undissolved casein in the milk, as well as some coagulated albumen and fat.—Technical World.

Servant Girl Educator.

The truth is, we never think of education in connection with babyhood, the term being in our minds inextricably confused with schoolhouses and books. When we do honestly admit the plain fact that a child is being educated in every waking hour by the condition in which he is placed and the persons who are with him, we shall be ready to see the need of a higher class of educators than servant girls.—Concerning Children.

Fever Statistics.

People are most liable to fever between the ages of fifteen and twenty; 209 out of every 1,000 cases occur at that age. There are only 10 per 1,000 under five and 2 per 1,000 over fifty-five.

Thousands of other families have been equally benefited and depend entirely upon Dr. King's Discovery to cure their colds, coughs, throat and lung troubles. Every dose helps. Price 50c. and $1.00.
